Job Description

Graphic Designers are responsible for designing effective print, digital and motion graphics to best promote Student Involvement and USU programs, initiatives and events to meet client objectives within project deadlines.

Responsibilities:

- Develop layouts, original graphic elements and illustrations for print, collateral, signage, social media and screen graphics.
- Establish the overall look and content for products and communication materials that comply with University branding, editorial and accessibility standards.
- Research design inspiration in order to produce sketches, mood boards or style scapes to present to the client.
- Communicate with client program representatives to determine objectives and creative direction.
- Maintain organized project files, office supplies and department equipment.
- Perform other duties as assigned. (During crunch times, this may include assisting with signage, social media management and website editing.)

Qualifications

- Current Fresno State student pursuing a degree in graphic design or a related field. (Additional graphic design experience may be substituted for the education requirement.)
- Experience (1 year) designing graphics for promotional materials, signage or social media.
- Experience with Adobe Illustrator and Photoshop. (InDesign experience preferred.)
- Ability to meet deadlines while working independently and collaboratively on projects.
- Strong attention to detail, organization, time management and self-motivation skills.
- Strong interpersonal communication skills (i.e. customer or client services experience).
